

Paul Hutchinson

Partner, London

Paul Hutchinson is a Partner at RBB with more than fifteen years' experience as an expert in competition economics in both private and public practice. Prior to joining RBB, Paul worked in the mergers and market investigations teams at the UK's Office of Fair Trading. Paul has acted for a wide range of high-profile clients on matters before the European Commission and national regulators. He is featured in "Who's Who Legal – Economists".

Paul regularly advises on high-profile cases before the European Commission and many national domestic authorities, in particular in the UK. In the sphere of merger control, notable cases include Qualcomm / NXP, Sainsbury's / Argos, UTC / Rockwell, Global Radio/ RSL and Diageo / Whyte&Mackay.

In relation to abuse of dominance investigations Paul recently advised Pfizer during the CMA's investigation into the pricing of Phenytoin Sodium and has assisted Google in responding to ongoing European Commission investigations.

He has also provided (confidential) compliance advice to clients in sectors ranging from fast moving consumer goods to semiconductors.

Paul's experience spans a wide range of sectors, including telecommunications, pharmaceuticals, transport, retailing, consumer electronics, and fast-moving consumer goods.

Clients he has worked for include Qualcomm, Sainsbury's, Rockwell, Heineken, Diageo, Pfizer, Global Radio and Google.
